

Greenwich, Tenn. March 8th 1862

Dear Mother.

We arrived, all safe,
at Jackson this morning and a gay time we have had of it.
The first night about 10.30 P.M.
the cry of coffee went aboard throughout the carr. and I went with the rest and got a cup of chocolate from some ladies that were waiting at a depot with a basket of chocolate.

Next about 12
the cry of coffee went about and I went with the rest

good bye
I must go
